

BidSpotter Listing Policy

In order to provide assurance to our bidders about the professionalism, standards, and common practice of our partners, BidSpotter requires all partners to meet at least one of the following requirements:

- Have a valid auctioneer or auction firm license from an offering state or province.
- Have an employee or staff member who holds a valid auctioneer license.
- Hold an active membership in the Industrial Auctioneer Association (IAA).

[New Entrants] Additional Requirements:

- Complete a Conflict of Interests form that outlines any working relationships with current BidSpotter clients in the last 24 months.
- Maintain an active website with a dedicated auction listing page.
- Sustain an online hammer sell thru rate above 60%.

We expect all our partners to operate in accordance with licensing requirements and applicable state and federal laws. We recognize under some unique circumstances an auction house may not be able to meet these criteria. In those circumstances we will work to certify those auction houses that have a proven and undisputed track record operating as an auction house.